

Technology Hardware Rental

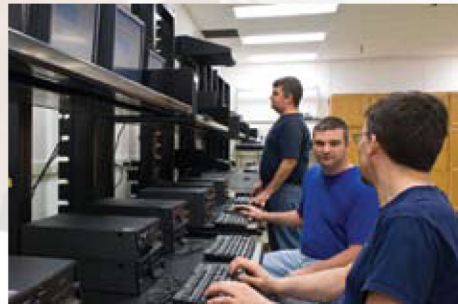

A comprehensive solution for short-term technology needs

Even if your business has a long-term technology strategy, short-term needs are a constant challenge. Travel, trade shows, conferences, sales meetings, seminars, training programs, contract employees, and internship programs are just a few examples of common short-term IT needs.

Technology Hardware Rental from Data Sales Co. is an affordable solution that helps you avoid the cost and hassles of outright ownership. We offer daily, weekly or monthly rental programs. All components are configured and set up to your specifications and covered by the Data Sales Co. warranty. Our full service approach covers everything from configuration, testing and image loading to shipping, installation and removal.
